ALSEHOOD ITS OWN ACCUSER.

The impulse to do good is natural. leads to pleasant ways and gives easant thoughts when the impulse is eyed. It may be said of all good rsons that their minds are full of ankfulness when they feel that the tter part of their natures have been ue to nature.

It is the first impulse of a child to eak the truth: it flows from the ind without an effort. It requires thought to arrange it, when the ind is full of it and willing to do are it. The first efforts of a child hen it begins to talk is to declare e truth and nothing but the truth requires an effort of the mind to eclare an untruth. It is unnatural lie and for that reason the mind is rebellion when it is used to give pression to an untruth.

There is always connected with an ntruthful utterance an effort and an ntention to deceive. The effort and he intention may be slight, but it is evertheless present when a wilful alsehood is used. There is a double fort when uttering a falsehood which not always understood by those who ngage in lying. There is effort to eep back the truth, which is foremost nd uppermost in the mind, and there an additional effort to select words oreign to the mind and to the truth hen an untruth is spoken. The eye, nd mind of persons whose business nd profession it is to search after ruth become so familiarwith the manr of a liar that it is almost impossible to deceive them they deect without seeming effort a falsehood when it is in the first stages of tterance.

The cunning and deceitful mind is ot sufficient to cover the imprints ade by a lying tongue as they are nnatural and are always connected ith more or less hesitation arising om an effort to suppress the truth. ere it generally known how little ere is accomplished by using deitful words there would be more ath spoken than there is in the siness of life. There is not anything ined through the use of a falsehood at is lasting or that is beneficial to dividuals or to society.

Through their use there is a loss of lf respect and a feeling of conscious worthiness, that takes possession the mind, or in other words, the ind becomes its own accuser. A certain feeling of reproach takes possesion of it to the annoyance of those ho are not lost to all the better parts hich nature has implanted in man for s direction and guidance in the affirs of life.

FUTURE SCHOOL HOLIDAYS.

It makes us feel more gay to meet hool mates on the way as we go to mp and play, in the sunshine all the y, was the language plainly written the smiling faces of the scholars the several schools who came to no yesterday to enjoy an outing and ke in the sights at the University. e teachesr had a tell tale expression their faces that showed quite plain at they did not care who believed at they enjoyed a change.

There is no time lost by giving ange and relief to the mind as well to the body. When we have learned take lessons from nature and apply em to practical use there will be ore changes in our mode of life than ere have been or are in our manner life at present.

Wherever the eye rests, or the mind vestigates is variety. Difference is a le observed by nature in creation d there is surely no sufficient reason opposition to its application to life. iversity in all things is continually fore us, teaching us lessons that deand in the perfection of reason obrvance by us, through their applicaon to the doings and enjoyments in life. here is a fullness connected with the versity there is in nature which early teaches that there is an infinite nd, together with an infinite presce and power connected with its deelopment.

Was it not intended that this ever esent law of difference should be obrved by us in what we do, in what e say, in what we think upon and in r actions in life?

There is not a lesson taught by naire that does not contain in it differnce emphasized. Change is proclaimd from the mountain tops of the valy, over the valley to the sea and ross the sea to foreign climes, here the proclamation is continued r edification and instruction.

Will it be said that a day at school s lost when the scholars and teachrs in this section of the State came Reno to visit the University and to enjoy its pleasures and sports. It may enter some mind that a school day was lost, but there is no cause for alarm about the existance of any such notion, as it will never be heard from. There would be some evidence of progress by declaring through law certain days holidays for schools, when scholars and teachers will turn out and do school work in the mountains in the late spring and in the early summer by engaging in out of door sports and pleasures.

The writer is well aware that the suggestion for holidays for schools will be received by some very good people as a reckless innovation upon old time usage, which is the sort of usage that needs overhauling by cutting it out and placing something new and better in its place. The time is not far distant when schools as such will be provided by law with out of door opportunity in the cause of health and for other purposes.

ETHICS OF FISHING.

A SCIENTIFIC VIEW OF THE ALLEGED CRUELTY OF THE SPORT.

The Creatures Are Most Happy When They Are Hooked—They Have Little Capacity For Suffering and Even Little Pleasure In Eating.

A little boy was fishing for the first time. With the customary luck of a beginner he had bass and perch galore to answer the invitation of his bait.

Presently the impulses of the humane side of his nature made a little hesitating protest against the more savage instincts of the sportsmanlike side. The wriggling of the fish when he caught them troubled him, and he sought to apologize to his conscience for the suffering he was apparently inflicting. He said, "I think the reason they jump so is that they are so glad to get out of that wet water."

Curiously enough, if we may accept the testimony of the scientists, the little boy was quite right. A fish is never so happy as when he is drawn out of the water. The air is to him quite all that laughing gas is to a human being. It gives him a hundred times more oxygen per second than his gills ever get for him from the inhalation of water. It makes him delightfully drunken. It exhilarates him. It fills him with a completeness of physical joy—the only joy he is capable of feeling—wholly unknown to him in his native element. He dies presently, it is true, but he dies in an ecstasy of enjoyment instead of dying in his appointed fashion by suffocation in the maw of some bigger fish.

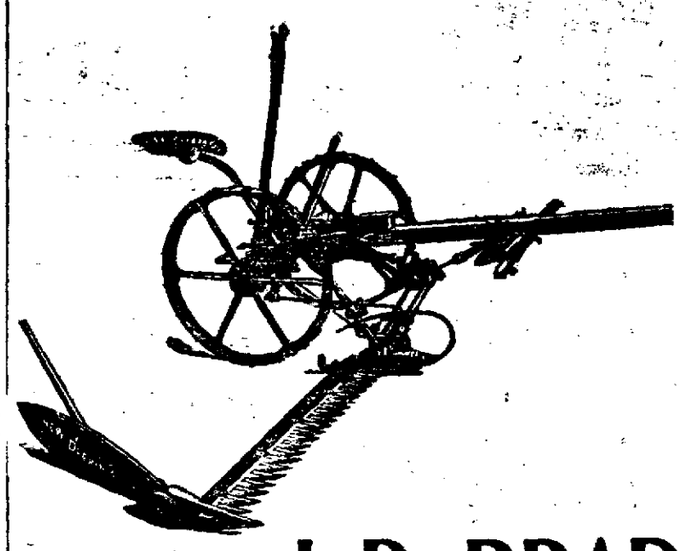

In a footnote to the thirteenth canto of "Don Juan" Byron denounces Izaak Walton as a "sentimental savage" and characterizes fishing as "the cruelest, the coldest of pretended sports." That only shows how little Byron knew about the matter. His sports involved the sacrifice of women rather than worms.

It is time to set this matter of fishing upon its moral legs, as it were, an end to be accomplished merely by telling the truth about it. A fish is the very lowest form of the vertebrates. It is incapable of any joy except that of getting hooked and thus drawn out of the water to which its nature condemns it and for a time breathing the air that intoxicates it in delightfully deadly fashion. It has not even the instinct of sexual association except in the case of a few rare species. It knows nothing of companionship, for the scientists tell us that even when fish swim in "schools" it is only because they are engaged in a common predatory pursuit of prey, each endeavoring to snatch from the others the morsels they seek to swallow.

So low in the scale is the fish that even in eating he has no pleasure except that of distending his stomach. For the scientists find no "taste goblets" at the base of his tongue, and every fisherman knows that the fish swallows his prey whole, with no possibility of detecting its flavor. And further, every fisherman who has trolled knows that the fish is so far an indiscriminate gormand in his search for food that he will swallow a coffee spoon with a bur attached as readily as the daintiest bait morsel that could be displayed in front of his greedy eyes and his rapacious mouth.

Still, again, every fish that is caught upon a hook gets only what he deserves. He is caught every time in an attempt to swallow some other creature whole and digest it in slow torture. Indeed the entire life of every fish is passed in a ceaseless endeavor to catch and swallow other fish. So far as science can discover, fish of most species make no distinction even in favor of their own young, their only ground of selection being a consideration for their individual threats in the act of swallowing. On that account alone the severely spined sunfish escapes the predatory perch, and the bullhead the moment his "horns" are hard enough to be in danger even from the most voracious of pickerel.

The fisherman is not a monster of wantonness. He is merely a de-

"Low Neck Dinners."

A few days ago a lady in pursuit of a cook was interviewing and being interviewed at a German employment bureau. "I shall want you to go into the country with me," she remarked to the mighty personage, who was eying her from head to foot. "Yez, mum; and do yez have low neck dinners, mum?" Mrs. Cook inquired. "Low neck dinners? What do you mean by that?" said the lady. "Well, mum, do yez eat yez dinner in low neck dresses? I hev a frind who says she'll not take no place unless the family eats in low necks, an I thought I wouldn't either." So this is what we are all coming to. Not even our domestics will endure "plain livers," and if one wants a Sancock she can't have her without promising to "eat in low necks."—Boston Herald.

A little boy fell out of the bed at his home in Idlewild some nights ago, and when his mother and some of the other members of the family teased him about it he felt very much as if he had done something disgraceful and cried as if his little heart would break.

His mother saw that she was on the wrong tack, so she ceased to tease him and made the others quit doing so and made a show of sympathy by asking:

"My child, how on earth did you come to fall out of bed?"

"I don't know, mother," he replied, "unless I went to sleep right where I got in."—Memphis Scimitar.

VOLUNTEER SERVICES.

Quite a large and appreciative audience listened to Mrs. Col. Duncan of the Volunteers of America at the local armory last night. The subject of the address was Prison Wor of the Organization."

This work is directly under the supervision of Mrs. Ballington Booth, who with her husband, is at the head of the society The audience were in sympathy with the speaker and tears were seen to course down the cheeks of more than one as she described the struggles of the ex-prisoner in his endeavor to regain his position in society.

Quite a large offering was taken up for the support of the local work.

Col Duncan and wife, who have the oversight of the work on the Pacific Coast and whose headquarters are in San Francisco, are here on a five days' visit of inspection and incidentally to give the local work a lift

They spoke to the students of the University on Wednesday afternoon and were very cordially received by the faculty The short addresses were apparently well received by the assembled students

NO SHOOTING.

The published report regarding an alleged fatal shooting in the tenderloin has no foundation in fact. Rumors to that effect were on the streets Thursday night, but tenderloin booze, as stated in the Journal, was all the victim got shot with. There was a fracas or two, however, and one man got a badly mangled arm and was later removed to the hospital, but his wound was not inflicted with a bullet.

EXTRACTING RICH ORE

Bryan City the Scene of Great and Lucrative Mining Activity.

Half a dozen men were put to work yesterday at the Bryan City mines and both works are now running full handed. George Wedekind is working about twenty men and Chas. Bell nearly the same number. The latter is still sinking in solid high grade ore. When a few feet more depth is attained he will begin drifting and will then put on a larger force.

The rock is easy digging, requiring no shooting, and as no waste is being encountered in either mine, there is a steady stream of ore flowing into Reno and a car or two is dispatched daily.

From all indications the mineral output of the immediate neighborhood of Reno for the season will be up in six figures. The lead that Wedekind and Bell are working on is a second Comstock.

PERSONAL MENTION

A Batch of Interesting Items by a Journal Correspondent.

Judd Allen, the Wadsworth liveryman, spent yesterday in this village.

J. H. Brown came in from Cold Springs last evening.

Professor E. E. Caine was a visitor from Wadsworth yesterday.

Principal Monroe of the Dayton schools attended the Academic league contests in this city yesterday.

Dr. Stubbs, R. L. Fulton and Thomas Wren leave tomorrow to attend the banquet to President McKinley in San Francisco. Dr. Stubbs is billed for one of the addresses.

R. C. Hunken, one of Verdi's substantial citizens, spent yesterday in this city.

George Bryson has returned to Carson.

Mrs. General Clark and son of Carson spent yesterday in Reno.

Professor Howe was down from Carson yesterday.

TRAINS RUN ON SUNDAY.

The Nevada-California-Oregon railroad now runs trains on Sunday on the same schedule as week days. This is a good opportunity for the overworked business men to spend a quiet Sunday in the country among the murmuring pines of the Sierras.

General Freight and Passenger Agent Bennett is arranging for the establishment of a picnic ground in a favored locality up the road that will be a mecca for the excursionists and camper. A commodius pavilion will be built for dancers and other arrangements made for the comfort, convenience and pleasure of excursionists.

TWO BIRDS CAUGHT.

Young Pike, who was recently fined for illegal fishing, got himself in the toils again yesterday. He was arrested by Game Warden Merklinger, who also captured Ed. McLeod, who was working the fishway at the electric light dam.

WHEELMEN DANCE.

The entertainment committee of the Reno Wheelmen held a meeting last evening and decided to change the date of the dance and entertainment from May 24th to May 17th. The change was made necessary owing to the Utah U. of N. debate coming on the 24th.

It is the intention of the committee to give these dances at least once a month to increase the racing condition

The citizens and members should take hold of this matter and make it the success it deserves. An effort will be made to secure the same excellent music in attendance at the anniversary ball, and a grand time will be giney to all.

INVADED THIS CITY.

Reno was invaded yesterday by an army of bright faced school children. They came from three of the four points of the compass and were all enthusiasm and hilarity.

The early eastbound train brought a detachment from Verdi. A little later a strong contingent from Wadsworth arrived and were taken in hand by the entertainment committee. The Carson contingency did not arrive until 1 o'clock on the belated local. They were some fifty strong and besides, there were a couple of score pupils from the Gold Hill schools and a few from Virginia.

All carried their school colors and brought their school yells, making striking contrasts in sounds and hues.

DID NOT PUT IN AN APPEARANCE.

Fred Hewlett and C. Colley were arrested several days ago by Game Warden Merklinger for fishing within fifty feet of a fishway. The former pleaded guilty and was let off with a fine of $20, the minimum penalty

Colley pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. It was set for yesterday afternoon. At the time set the Justice Court was in session. The jury were present and so was the prosecution as well as the attorney for the defense, but Colley was non est.

He will probably get a big fine put on him and a little additional for contempt of court,

A RATTLING GOOD ASSAY.

A small, but well defined ledge was struck a day or two ago in the Dogskin country by a couple of prospectors who desire their names suppressed at present. Assays all run high An average of the seam yielded about $10 in gold, 75 ounces in silver and 25 per cent copper.

APPEAL NOT YET TAKEN.

An Appeal has not yet been taken in the Wedekind-Bell case. Delay in securing a type written report of the proceedings is all that holds back the appeal. It will be made early next week.

DIAMOND SETTING.

As this is a very important branch of the jewelry business, we spared no means in getting the best diamond setter on the coast. If you have any stone to be reset it will pay you to take it tl the Golden Jewelry Company. 11aprtf

OLD SOLDIER'S EXPERIENCE.

M. M. Austin, civil war veteran, of Winchester, Ind., writes "My wife was sick a long time in spite of good doctor's treatment, but was wholly cured by Dr. King's New Life Pills, which worked wonders for health." They always do. Try them. Only 25c. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Start Girls Right!

Many beautiful girls become invalids for life, because at the crucial period of puberty they pay no attention to the laws of health. Mothers should protect their daughters' health by giving them necessary information and proper treatment. When the menses come on a girl unawares in her inexperience she is either frightened into convulsions, or scared into trying to check the flow. Many girls have checked the flow and it has never started again. And as a result they have grown pale-faced, with "crow-tracks" on their cheeks, and dark half-moons under their eyes. A dose of taken every morning after a girl is twelve years old will bring the menses on properly and keep them regular. It will help her to develop into attractive womanhood and equip her for the duties of wife and motherhood. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

American, and it so favorably impressed me that on my visit to Baltimore during the holidays I purchased a bottle of it for my adopted daughter, who was suffering with female troubles. She had been under the doctor's care for some time, and when her periods would come on her suffering was something terrible. I induced her to try it and the first dose brought on her menses. She took it regularly according to the directions, and was greatly relieved. To use her own words, "It saved my life." J. WESLEY CROSS.

THEY WERE ALL SCARED.

A Case of Highway Robbery With a Peculiar Ending.

What the hero of this story kicks about is the fact that his wife forgot her sacred word never to say anything regarding it. His business keeps him out late, and he frequently carries considerable money. When footpads are reported in evidence, he gets as near home as he can by street car and then takes the best lighted route to his house.

One night he had reached the front of his own place and had just drawn a long sigh of relief when the order "Hands up!" startled him into compliance. One man held a gun in the immediate neighborhood of his ear and another systematically robbed him of everything worth carrying off. The order then was that he walk around the block so as to defer the use of his telephone, and it was clearly stated that any attempt to turn back, run or call for help would result in his being assassinated.

Before he reached the corner it struck him that the voice of one of the men sounded familiar and then that its owner was a near neighbor greatly given to practical joking. Back he went on tiptoes, his revolver in his right hand, and surprised the footpads as they were dividing the spoils. He made them lay everything on the walk, and when they straightened up awaiting the next order he discovered that both were total strangers. His hand dropped from sheer terror, and then the robbers ran one way, while he sprinted the other. Half an hour later he, his wife and a lantern, a revolver and the hired girl went out and found his money, watch, papers and diamond pin. His wife simply ruined the story by telling it first.—Detroit Free Press.

A Clever Canary.

A lady who had lost a canary happened to be attracted by a bird that was hopping about in its cage in the front window of a house in New York. Thinking that it looked very like her own, she knocked at the house door and asked a few questions about it. She was told that it had been found one cold morning sitting on the window sill and was taken in and cared for. The lady said her bird could perform the pretty feat of picking up a pin and sticking it in the carpet. Being allowed to test this bird, the cage door was opened and a pin thrown on the floor. The canary at once flew down to it, picked it up in its bill and cleverly stuck it upright in the carpet, after which it burst into song, as if rejoicing at its success. The folk of the house, believing the lady had proved her ownership of the bird, permitted her, says Little Folks, to take the songster away to her home.

Many Things Are Meant

By many dealers who claim to handle groceries. When they advertise Good Groceries, no mention is made of PRICE. When price is mentioned QUALITY IS OVERLOOKED. Again, sometimes they dwell on the virtues of a LARGE STOCK. In this case no claim is made to carrying FRESH GOODS.

We Preach the Three Main Virtues of Groceries—

Quality
Quantity
Price

They are mentioned in their regular order and the happy combination is causing hosts of pleased patrons at our store.
